With his enthusiasm, curiosity and penetrating intelligence, Josh is transforming the way pro-life people talk about the abortion issue, and helping us all to share the pro-life message more effectively."

Life Report Season 2 Starts in April!

Season two of Right to Life's radio and TV show begins on April 3rd! We've spent a lot of time planning the next season, and we're really excited about new improvements. Alongside our traditional roundtable discussions, we'll now be bringing you regular interviews with some of the the top pro-life experts in the world.

Here's a sneak preview of some of the first episodes to be released:

- Fr. Larry Toschi and Pastor Jim Franklin discussing the HHS mandate forcing nearly all employers (including religious institutions) to pay for abortions and contraception.
- Local clergy giving practical advice to pro-life people of faith who are at a church with a pastor who is silent about abortion.
- Assemblywoman Dr. Linda Halderman on SB1501, which would allow midwives to perform surgical abortions.
- Pro-life debate expert Scott Klusendorf on pro-life voting principles and what makes Right to Life of Central California unique among the hundreds of pro-life organizations in the U.S.
- Philosopher Trent Horn on what makes humans valuable and recognizing logical fallacies.
- An evaluation evaluation of the recent "180" documentary.

Should Pro-Lifers Have Pro-Choice Friends?

During a recent episode of Life Report, Liz and Andrew became concerned by Josh's statement that he has "pro-choice friends." Steve Wagner joins the show via Skype to talk about whether pro-life people should have pro-choice friends. What about people that say they're "pro-life" but in action are effectively pro-choice?
