Life Report: Responding to Severe Fetal Deformity

Description: How should pro-lifers respond to severe fetal deformity? Pro-choice people point to children that will die within hours of birth as a case that proves abortion should be available. What are the most effective ways to respond? We answer that in this show, which is also the most emotional show we've ever recorded.

My Debate with a YouTube Commenter

by Josh Brahm

Quote of the Month

"I think your show is a necessity. There aren't many pro-life organizations out there with the gumption to expose bad pro-life arguments in an attempt to show us better arguments and strengthen our position."

~Clinton,

In addition to general donations, we're also looking for committed friends of life to join the "300 Club," Right to Life's monthly support team. For just $25 each month, you can be an integral part of RLCC's life-changing and life-saving work here in the San Joaquin Valley and across the U.S. Click here for more!

I don't often respond to YouTube commenters anymore, because it rarely results in anything fruitful. (I do often engage in private email exchanges with pro-choice people, which tend to be much more valuable.) But I made an exception this week when a pro-choice person from the United Kingdom commented under our Life Report show about a British woman who had four abortions in three years.

We went back and forth a few times, and I've posted the dialogue here, in the hope that it gives you something you can use the next time a pro-choice person says the same thing to you!

Josh Brahm on KRDU: The Banter Never Ends

I've done a lot of radio interviews, but I don't enjoy any of them as much as I enjoy the never-ending banter between myself and Ken Adams at KRDU. I posted an MP3 of an interview with Ken last year, and it was the 5th most popular MP3 of the year. What's different this year? Neither Ken or myself held back!

Topics include:

1. Why I started the podcast
2. Faulty pro-life arguments
3. Does my show ever offend pro-lifers?
4. Does it bother me when it does?
5. What does it mean practically to be an ambassador for Christ?
6. How did we make the transition to broadcast television?
7. How can religious TV broadcasting become more youth friendly?

8. How can we sum up the pro-life position in 10 seconds?
9. Should we use Bible verses during conversations with atheists about abortion and stem cell research?
10. How did turning the podcast into a TV series change the show?.
